Patricia CALVACHE

soprano

Patricia Calvache (Cádiz 1997), begun her singing studies at the age of 12 at Royal Conservatoire "Manuel de Falla" in Cádiz, with profesor Esteban Rodríguez. Currently, she is studying at Conservatoire "Manuel Castillo" in Seville, with Rosa María de Alba.

As a member of the chorus of Teatro de la Maestranza de Sevilla, she has performed in operas such as Die Zauberflöte, Tannhäuser, La Bohème, Fidelio, Flautist, Adriana Lecouvreur and Lucia di Lammermoor.

She has attended to several masterclasses with prestigious Masters, such as Maestro Alberto Zedda in 2016, Ana Luisa Chova, Giulio Zappa, Isabel Rey or Mariella Devia.

She has been part of the list of finalists in the last 7th edition of the Alfredo Kraus International Singing Competition in Las Palmas de Gran Canaria.

Recently, she has sung Turina's "Las musas de Andalucía" at the Teatro de la Maestranza. Also, it must be highlighted her performance as soloist in the chamber music concert offered by the women's choir of the Teatro de la Maestranza.
